

| Count Sure Winners                                                                |                                                                                   |                                                                                   |                                                                                   |       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
|  |  |  |  | Total |
|                                                                                   |                                                                                   |                                                                                   |                                                                                   |       |

| Decide How to Develop Winners |        |         |          |
|-------------------------------|--------|---------|----------|
| Promotion                     | Length | Finesse | End Play |
|                               |        |         |          |

| Count Fast and Slow Losers                                                        |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
|  |  |  |  | Total |
|                                                                                   |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |       |
| Decide How to Reduce Losers                                                       |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |       |
| Ruffs                                                                             | Finesse                                                                             | Pitch                                                                               | Length                                                                              |       |
|                                                                                   |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |                                                                                     |       |

Board: 1

Dealer: North

Contract: 6NT

Declarer: North

Board: 3

Dealer: East

Contract: 6♥

Declarer: East

Board 1

North Deals

None Vul

♠ 10 8 4 3

♥ J 5 2

♦ 10 4

♣ K 10 8 6

♠ A J 2

♥ K Q 4

♦ K Q 7 5

♣ Q 7 2

♠ 9 7 6

♥ 10 9 8 7

♦ J 9 6 3

♣ 9 5

♠ K Q 5

♥ A 6 3

♦ A 8 2

♣ A J 4 3

WestNorthEastSouth

1NT

Pass

6NT

All Pass

6NT by North

[showcards N:C3]

You are West. The bidding has been as shown.

Partner led the ♥10, won by dummy's ♥A. At trick 2 North calls for dummy's ♣3. Which card do you play?

Play the ♣6.

You would not have been expecting North to play a small ♣ from dummy's holding. The only way it makes sense is if North holds the ♣Q.

If you play your ♣K you will win the trick, but in so doing you will set up 3 ♣ tricks for North, which is all he needs to make the slam.

Play low instead and North will win his ♣Q. But now your ♣K 10 sits behind dummy's ♣J 4 so he can get only one more trick in the suit, the ♣A.

Board 3

East Deals

E-W Vul

♠ K 7 2
 ♥ K J 10 9 3
 ♦ 7 2
 ♣ K J 10

♠ 8 4 3

♥ 7 4

♦ Q J 9 5

♣ Q 9 7 5

♠ A Q 5
 ♥ A Q 8 6 5 2
 ♦ A K
 ♣ 6 2

♠ J 10 9 6

♥ -

♦ 10 8 6 4 3

♣ A 8 4 3

| West     | North | East | South |
|----------|-------|------|-------|
|          |       | 1♥   | Pass  |
| 3♥       | Pass  | 4NT  | Pass  |
| 5♣       | Pass  | 6♥   |       |
| All Pass |       |      |       |

6♥ by East

harder for East. Sometimes he will guess correctly and play dummy's ♣K, but other times he will play dummy's ♣J, hoping you have the ♣Q.

[showcards S:C2]

You are South. The bidding has been as shown.

You lead the ♠J, the ♠K is played from dummy and holds the trick. Next come dummy's ♥K, then another trump to East's ♥A.

At trick 4 East plays the ♣2 from his hand and you must decide what to play.

Play the ♣3 (smoothly).

East has 2 small ♣s and faces a choice of dummy plays in the suit. He must decide whether to play you for the ♣A or the ♣Q. If you play your ♣A you make the decision very easy for him.

When you correctly play your small ♣ life becomes harder for East. Sometimes he will guess correctly and play dummy's ♣K, but other times he will play