

A collection of playing cards from various suits and ranks, including Kings, Queens, Jacks, and Aces, arranged in a fan-like pattern. The cards are fanned out, showing different suits like hearts, clubs, diamonds, and spades. Some cards are partially obscured by others, creating a sense of depth and movement. The colors are vibrant, with red for hearts and diamonds, and black for clubs and spades. The cards are arranged in a way that suggests a game in progress or a hand being dealt.

Partner's bid is game forcing. With a bare minimum, no singletons, you go ahead and sign off in game. Partner then says 4 ♠.

Partner is definitely showing slam interest. If you had a first round control in either Minor suit you would bid it now. But you don't. So you sign off again, this time at 5 ♥. Partner finally gives up on the idea of slam and passes.

You want to force partner to game while you describe your hand. So you make a Splinter Bid of 4♥. Partner replies 5♣.

Partner has the ♣A. Good. You are pretty worried about ♦s and also your 11 high card points. You are tempted to just sign off at 5♠ but you shouldn't. You can make a control-bid below the 5♠ level. So you bid 5♥. This tells partner that your Splinter must have been a ♥ void. Partner bids 6♠.
