Weak Two-bids
Open 2♦, 2♥ or 2♠ with a 6-card suit headed by some honors and fewer 4-9 HCP.

Response of a new suit is not forcing. (Note: some pairs play this 1-round force)
Raise of Opener's suit is to play.
Response of 2NT is forcing and asks for further information.
After 2NT Response, Opener bids:
  3 of original suit to show a weak hand
  3 of another suit to show a good hand with high card in that suit
  3NT with a suit of A K Q x x x

Preemptive Bids
An opening bid of 3 of any suit shows a 7-card suit and less than opening hand.

This is primarily a defensive bid, and you should be mindful of vulnerability, being more cautious when you are Vulnerable against Non-Vulnerable opponents. For these Deals assume neither side is Vulnerable.
As a rule of thumb, Responder should assume Opener can win six tricks and bid accordingly.

NORTH has a 7-card ♠ suit but he is too strong to open with a preemptive bid. So he opens 1♠ instead.

SOUTH should respond 2♣, and NORTH can do nothing but rebid the ♠ suit.

SOUTH thinks there should be game and bids 4♠

EAST is too weak to open 1♥ but just right for 2♥.

Wow! WEST has 21 HCP and two good ♥s. Could this be time for a slam try?

Nope, no slam here. Suppose EAST has six ♥s headed by the AK. The trump suit would certainly be solid, but then EAST couldn't possibly have an outside Ace as well or he would have been too strong for a Weak-two opening. So WEST just bids 4♥.

NORTH really hates that 2♥ opening by SOUTH.

But there's no sense bidding and probably making matters worse, so she grits her teeth and passes.

If you think 3NT has a chance you are delusional.

WEST expects to be better off in ♠s than EAST would be in 2♥.

Whether or not you play a new suit as a one round force or not, EAST should make the 3♠ bid with a hand this good. WEST then bids the ♠ game.

NORTH has a pretty normal 3♥ opening bid.

SOUTH, however, has a big hand, and she launches into Blackwood.

When NORTH shows one Ace SOUTH can bid 6♥ with confidence.
